1. The amendment in response to the office action mailed November 6, 2002 has been entered and considered. Claims 7-12 are now pending.

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

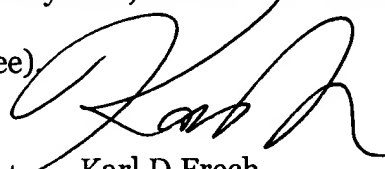

3. Claims 7-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ruppert et al 5,640,002 in view of Suzuki 6,129,274. Ruppert discloses a personal shopper which reads bar codes by means of manual input device 10 and maintains a list of items in memory for which bar codes have been read. There is a display for indicating to user information which has been input and decoded. Ruppert does not specifically disclose maintaining an editable database of user input items. Suzuki discloses a personal shopping assistant device which maintains an editable user database of previous transactional information. It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to use the editable user database of Suzuki in the system of Ruppert in order to avoid any possible double purchases of the same item, when such a double purchase is not desired.

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-6 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
